

Test for Principal API

Please see the attached XML

This XML contains menu data.

Please author an application that reads this menu data and exposes an api to return menu categories, product, modifiers etc.

Please take time to decide what kind of features you want in the API for e.g: return categories, single products, return menu information based on ingredients, filtering based on caloaries etc.

You are free to use whatever programming language you want to use.

Please prepare a demo for us to exercise your API and have it ready to make changes if needed during you next interview.